New Bleachers At Andy Local Couple Grows Prize Winning Roses

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT COOPER

Followers of the Elba Tigers journeying to Andalusia for this Friday night's game will be pleasantly surprised when they see the new improved visitors' side of Andalusia Municipal Stadium.

During the summer months new stands made of pre-stressed concrete were built on the visitors' side. These new concrete bleachers are ten rows high with the lowest seat elevated 48 inches off the ground so no longer will the fans' view be blocked by their team and cheerleaders in front of them.

This new facility includes new rest rooms and a concession stand on the visitors' side of the field and the new bleachers have room for 750 fans. This addition makes the Andalusia stadium one of the finest on the Elba schedule.

ELECTION ROSE GROWS IN COOPER GARDEN

The Coopers became interested in roses several years ago and have steadily increased the number of rose bushes and the quality of all their roses to the point where they now have over 150 first quality bushes and recently won three prizes in the Greater Montgomery Rose Society Show.

The October 13 and 14 show in Montgomery was the first time the couple had ever tried their luck at a rose show and they walked away with a first place, second place and a third place prize. Winning first place in its class was DAY-DREAM, a pink blend rose. FIRELIGHT, (an orange colored rose) won second place in its class, and a rose named FIRST PRIZE (another pink blend) placed third in its respective class.

Donna Named Beauty

Elba Band Plans For Troy Contest

The Marching Tiger Band of Elba High School will participate in the Southeastern Marching Band Festival at Troy State University Saturday (Oct. 27).

The shows will begin at 12 Noon in Memorial Stadium on the TSU campus and conclude about 10:30 p.m.

Rescue Report

The Elba Rescue Squad made the following runs during the period of October 16 through 23.

Oct. 23 - Mrs. Cecil Corley from home on Rt. 2, Elba, to Mitchell Memorial in Opp.

Oct. 23 - Emmett Spivey, from scene of accident on Carrolville St. to Elba General.

Oct. 23 - Mose Killingsworth from home at Kendrick Apts. to Coffee General, Enterprise.

Oct. 22 - A trip was made from Klainert's to Elba General, but name of person is unavailable.

Fire Report

For the first time in six weeks, the Elba Fire Department has answered fire calls.

On Oct. 19, they put out a grass fire in the Friendship Community, near Earl Twilley's home.

On Oct. 20, they answered a call to Larry Johnson's home in the Lee Community. But, the house and furnishings burned before they could be put out.

On Oct. 21, the firemen put out another grass fire near Doug Holderfield's home.

Ladies "Get Involved"

Mrs. Roylene Kennett and Mrs. Mary Grider decided to "become involved" and put their thoughts into action where community ecology is concerned.

The ladies have undertaken a project to clean up a blighted area on the Elba-Kinston Highway, just outside the City limits - a place where garbage is dumped without authorization. They have the full cooperation of the property owner in their undertaking.

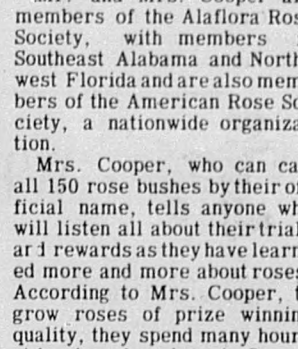

Mrs. Kennett and Mrs. Grider became interested in doing this while taking a course at the Enterprise Junior College. They have attracted the attention of the Coffee County Commissioners, and have been offered the assistance of the County governing body.

"Talk is easy, but until concerned citizens become involved, we will not accomplish anything toward cleaning up and beautifying our environment," said the cleaner-community enthusiasts.

Homecoming Queen Named This Week

Elba High School Homecoming Queen and her court were selected by popular vote of the student body on Tuesday, Oct. 23, 1973. Kathy Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bowers, was selected to reign as Queen over Homecoming activities.

Kathy is a senior this year. The Homecoming Court is made up of one attendant from each senior high school grade. The 12th grade attendant is Brenda Spann; 11th grade - Theresa Crook; 10th grade - Delia Smith; and 9th grade - Connie Carpenter.

Activities planned for the Carnival include: Bean Bags, Fish Pond, Cake Walk, Bowling and Flea Market. Three new games are Ping Pong, Dart Throw and Jello Throw.

Pies, cakes and candy will also be available, and the kitchen will provide the following short orders:

Compton Is Superintendent

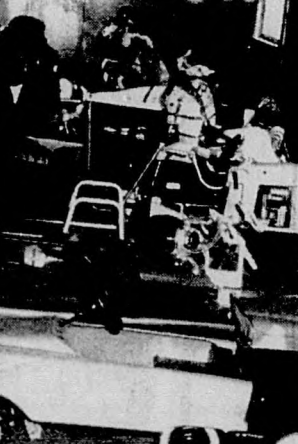

Mr. Ed Compton has been hired by the Elba Water and Electric Board as Superintendent of the Department. Mr. Compton was officially hired last Tuesday by the Board and began work on Thursday. He is retired from the U. S. Air Force and was working at Dorsey Trailers at the time he accepted the position with the City of Elba.

Mr. Compton was highly recommended to the Water and Electric Board and in accepting the position, said he and the board were very appreciative for allowing him to leave without working out a notice. He noted that his former employers were aware of the urgent needs of the City of Elba and therefore released him immediately.

Toys Are Needed

Specialist 4 Johnnie L. Robins, left, Company E, 30th Infantry, and Pvt. Eric R. Haines, Company A, 46th Engineer Battalion, put the finishing touches on a fleet of peddle cars that were given to the annual toy drive being held at Ft. Rucker. All Operation Santa Claus personnel have repaired the majority of the 1,319 toys already received, but project workers have a need for more toys to repair, with a goal of 18,000. Cash donations are accepted also, according to officials, since some of the toys require parts that need to be purchased. Anyone wishing to donate toys in Elba may take them to Chief Jack Smart at the Elba Police Station.

The repaired toys will be distributed at Christmas to underprivileged children in the local areas.

Zion Chapel Gets Big Win

The Zion Chapel Rebels, after losing C. led 14-0, Academy the week before, displayed a very fine game of offense and defense in defeating the Clayton Tigers, Friday night. Zion Chapel made very few mistakes, losing the ball only one time on a fumble.

The Rebels took the opening kick-off and on the first play, on a pass from Jerry Miller to Chuck Coleman, went 40 yards. They were stopped after a series of downs and had to punt to Clayton. The Big Red defense stopped Clayton on three plays; the Clayton punter then punted for 55 yards, giving Zion Chapel the ball on their own 35 yard line. The Rebel offense drove the ball 75 yards for the first score with Rusty Wambles taking it the last 4 yards for the TD. Res. Marler added the PAT and Z. C. led 7-0.

Later in the first quarter, Wambles carried the ball one yard for another Rebel TD. Marler added his second extra point and Z. C. led 14-0.

In the second quarter, Charles McLean got his second TD of the year from 15 yards out. Marler again added the point after try and Z. C. had a 21-0 half-time lead. Also in this quarter Coach John Hudson began using second string players who had seen little or no action thus far this season.

In the third quarter, Jeff Kelley scored the fourth Rebel touchdown of the night. Zion Chapel went for two with Miller hitting Johnny Killingsworth for the two points. The

VETERANS DAY 1973 FINDS AMERICA AT PEACE FOR FIRST TIME IN 12 YEARS

Veterans Day, 1973, which this year fell on Monday, October 22, holds a special place in the hearts and minds of all Americans. This year, for the first time since May 4, 1961, American troops are not at war anywhere around the globe. Veterans Day is a solemn occasion during which we in Alabama and Americans throughout the world, pay tribute to those brave men and women who performed their duties, not only in the tragic years of fighting in Southeast Asia, but in all of the wars in which America has been engaged. While Americans are relieved and happy that our involvement in Vietnam is ended, we do not forget that more than 1,200 Americans are still listed as missing-in-action, and we will not rest until the Communists bring up to us the remains of our missing men.

With 1-50 to go in the game, Clayton ended the scoring on a 45 yard run by their tailback Jeff Kelley for the fourth Rebel touchdown of the night. Zion Chapel plays Coffee Springs there on Thursday night.

Letter To Editor

Enterprise, Ala. Rt. 1

My dear Mr. Cox, of the Elba Clipper:

Your comments about the U. F. O.'s I presume, you think all reports are false, and a simple professor of some college is correct in rejecting the report of many people.

A college professor can lie as easily as a simple person that has never learned to spell his name.

College professors has the same access to bad whiskey (you mentioned) as anyone else. I don't have any, and I'm sure you don't, so let's leave it at that.

Pest Control

Men Attend Convention

New Federal legislation regulating the Pest Control Industry assures consumers of safe, clean, efficient protection of health and property, says Kersey and Stanley of Opp, Alabama.

Kersey and Stanley have just returned from National Pest Control Association's 80th anniversary convention in Denver. NPFA is a professional society of local and regional firms who specialize in controlling pests (general insects, termites, rodents) in and around buildings. More than 1,200 executives from 30 states attended this year's convention.

"We studied new methods and training required by the Government," Kersey and Stanley related. "Many of these practices have been in effect for years in the work we perform and we are glad to see them in a step forward for both the industry and the public."

or by sweeping meat axe cuts. In our revolution to armed control we often tend to confuse a security policy with a "war" policy, and as a consequence have sometimes cut our military muscle below the danger point. It is a mistake.

I remember hearing a call from Congressional doves not long ago for the United States to slash U.S. tank production. I would only ask these same doves to consider the key roles played by the tank forces on both sides in the Midwest.

My point is that Congress have not only the authority but the constitutional responsibility to make sure that our national defenses are adequate. We do not discharge our responsibility well in this area with hasty or emotional action.

Jordan observed that the game was the first sellout of the season at Grant Field, and that the Tech-Auburn contest was a sellout before all the Tech-Georgia tickets were gone.

Jordan may be eying the Tech record established by Alabama Coach Paul Bryant, who in a 10-year period lost to Tech only one game by only one point—including his rebuilding years at the Capstone.

Other Saturday victories from these parts were Samford, 35-22 over Harding; Livingston, 27-3 over Mississippi College; Tuskegee, 20-13 over Bethune-Cookman; Alabama A&M, 42-13 over Morris Brown, and Miles, 12-6 over Knoxville.

Sports writers, particularly, were saddened at the death of A.M. "Tommy" Coleman, 65, former SEC commissioner. Despite the intense and sometimes heated rivalry between Alabama schools and Georgia Tech—where Coleman served as an assistant coach for many years—Tommy always commanded the respect and admiration of writers and of the fans who knew him. Montgomery Advertiser Sports Editor Jack Doane wrote a moving column that told the story well.

Fred Folsom, former legislator, nephew of former Gov. James E. "Big Jim" Folsom and consequently a cousin of Mrs. Corneilia Wallace and in-law of Gov. George C. Wallace, was officially appointed to a newly created circuit judge position in Cullman County.

The appointment, challenged by Montgomery Advertiser-Journal Editor Harold E. Martin, had been held up until the Alabama Supreme Court issued an advisory opinion that the appointment was not in conflict with the state's nepotism law.

The opinion, which may yet be challenged, was based on the constitutional separation of powers between the executive and judicial branches of government.

Paroled from federal prison were former Atty.-Gen. Richmond Flowers, 56, and Birmingham businessman Oscar Hyde, 46, after serving 15 months of an eight-year sentence for conspiracy in extortion from individuals and firms doing business with the state.

And in the Elmore County community of Slapout, the treasury of the fledgling Jaycee club was wiped-out by the club president and 89 patrons of a Jaycee-sponsored dove shoot which game wardens said was conducted in a baited field. Jaycee President Demson Holley plans to hold a gag "baited turkey shoot" to raise money to pay the fines.

'76 Boost for Wallace

Political observers saw a tremendous boost in the 1976 presidential possibilities for Gov. George C. Wallace as a result of President Nixon's rash action in the Watergate case last weekend, which was widely viewed as leaving the Republican Party in much the same shambles as the Democratic Party.

Nixon's dismissal of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, the resulting resignation of Atty.-Gen. Elliot L. Richardson, and the firing of Deputy Atty.-Gen. William P. Ruckelshaus stunned Alabama political observers as much as it did the rest of the nation.

These events, coupled with the sordidness of the Agnew case, are seen as giving the GOP in virtual disrepute. And these developments come at a time when there is a growing warmth of climate for Wallace in the national councils of the Democratic Party, which may have to look far to find a popular leader in 1976.

Another Shocker — Baxley

Another shock wave came with the uncovering of a plot to assassinate youthful Alabama Atty.-Gen. Bill Baxley, who had recently been elected out-of-state opponents and Troy State was a 36-7 homecoming victory over Florence State.

The 6-0 Alabama Crimson Tide, ranked second and gaining, scored like lightning—three times in the fourth quarter—to defeat No. 10 and powerful Tennessee, 42-21.

Greg Gantt, who hasn't had too much game experience for this Tide team which hasn't required much punting, booted the ball three times for a 47-3 average, and may yet win the national punting championship if he gets a chance to boot the ball enough times to qualify for the NCAA record.

And the legends who hope for a championship contest in Legion Field the last game every year were encouraged by Auburn's decisive 24-10 victory over Georgia Tech.

It was Coach Bobby Jordan's 16th victory as a head coach, his fifth straight over the Atlantics who now want back into the Southeastern Conference, and knotted the 76-year Tech-Auburn record at 36-36.

Elba Tigers Fall To Hartford Bulldogs

13 - 7

The Elba Tigers, lacking team unity, fell to the first-down Hartford Bulldogs 13-7 last Friday night in Hartford.

The Bulldogs defense was keyed up and dropped Tiger quarterback Charles Ellis four times for losses and seemed to easily penetrate the Tiger offensive line.

Elba won the toss and elected to receive the opening kick. Richard Brunson took the kick and fumbled, but Willie James Phillips recovered at the Tiger 26. Ellis kept for no gain on first down and Bimbo went for four on second down. A bad pitch to Phillips on third down caused a fumble and Hartford recovered at the Elba 23.

The Bulldogs moved the ball to the Tiger 15 in three downs. Facing a fourth and two situation, halfback Tim Fowler bulled his way to the eight yard line to set up Hartford's first touchdown. Two more plays were all the Bulldogs needed to get six points on the scoreboard. The PAT failed, but Hartford was out front 6-0.

Phillips took the kick-off and returned it to the Tiger 32. The Tigers began moving the ball, but an illegal procedure penalty at the Tiger 47 capped off any more offensive action on this series of downs for the Tigers. The ball finally ended up at the Elba 26 with the Tigers facing a fourth and 29 situation.

Holley punted to the Bulldog 35, but Fowler returned the ball to the Hartford 47. The Tiger defense held the Bulldogs to eight yards on three carries and forced them to punt.

After four turnovers Elba had the ball at their own 19 after a Hartford punt. On first down Phillips lost five on the option. Bimbo "aw-lit" the daylight on second down, but managed to pick up three yards to the 17. With a third and long yardage situation, Ellis passed complete to Mullars at the Tiger 30 for a first down. The Bulldog defense stiffened up here, however, and held Elba to four yards in three plays. Holley's punt was blocked by the Bulldog defense and an immediate touchdown was awarded by Phillips. He kicked the Hartford ball carrier at the Tiger one yard line.

Hartford's Tim Fowler took the ball into the end zone on first down for six more points. The PAT was good and Hartford led 13-0 with 3:25 left in the second quarter.

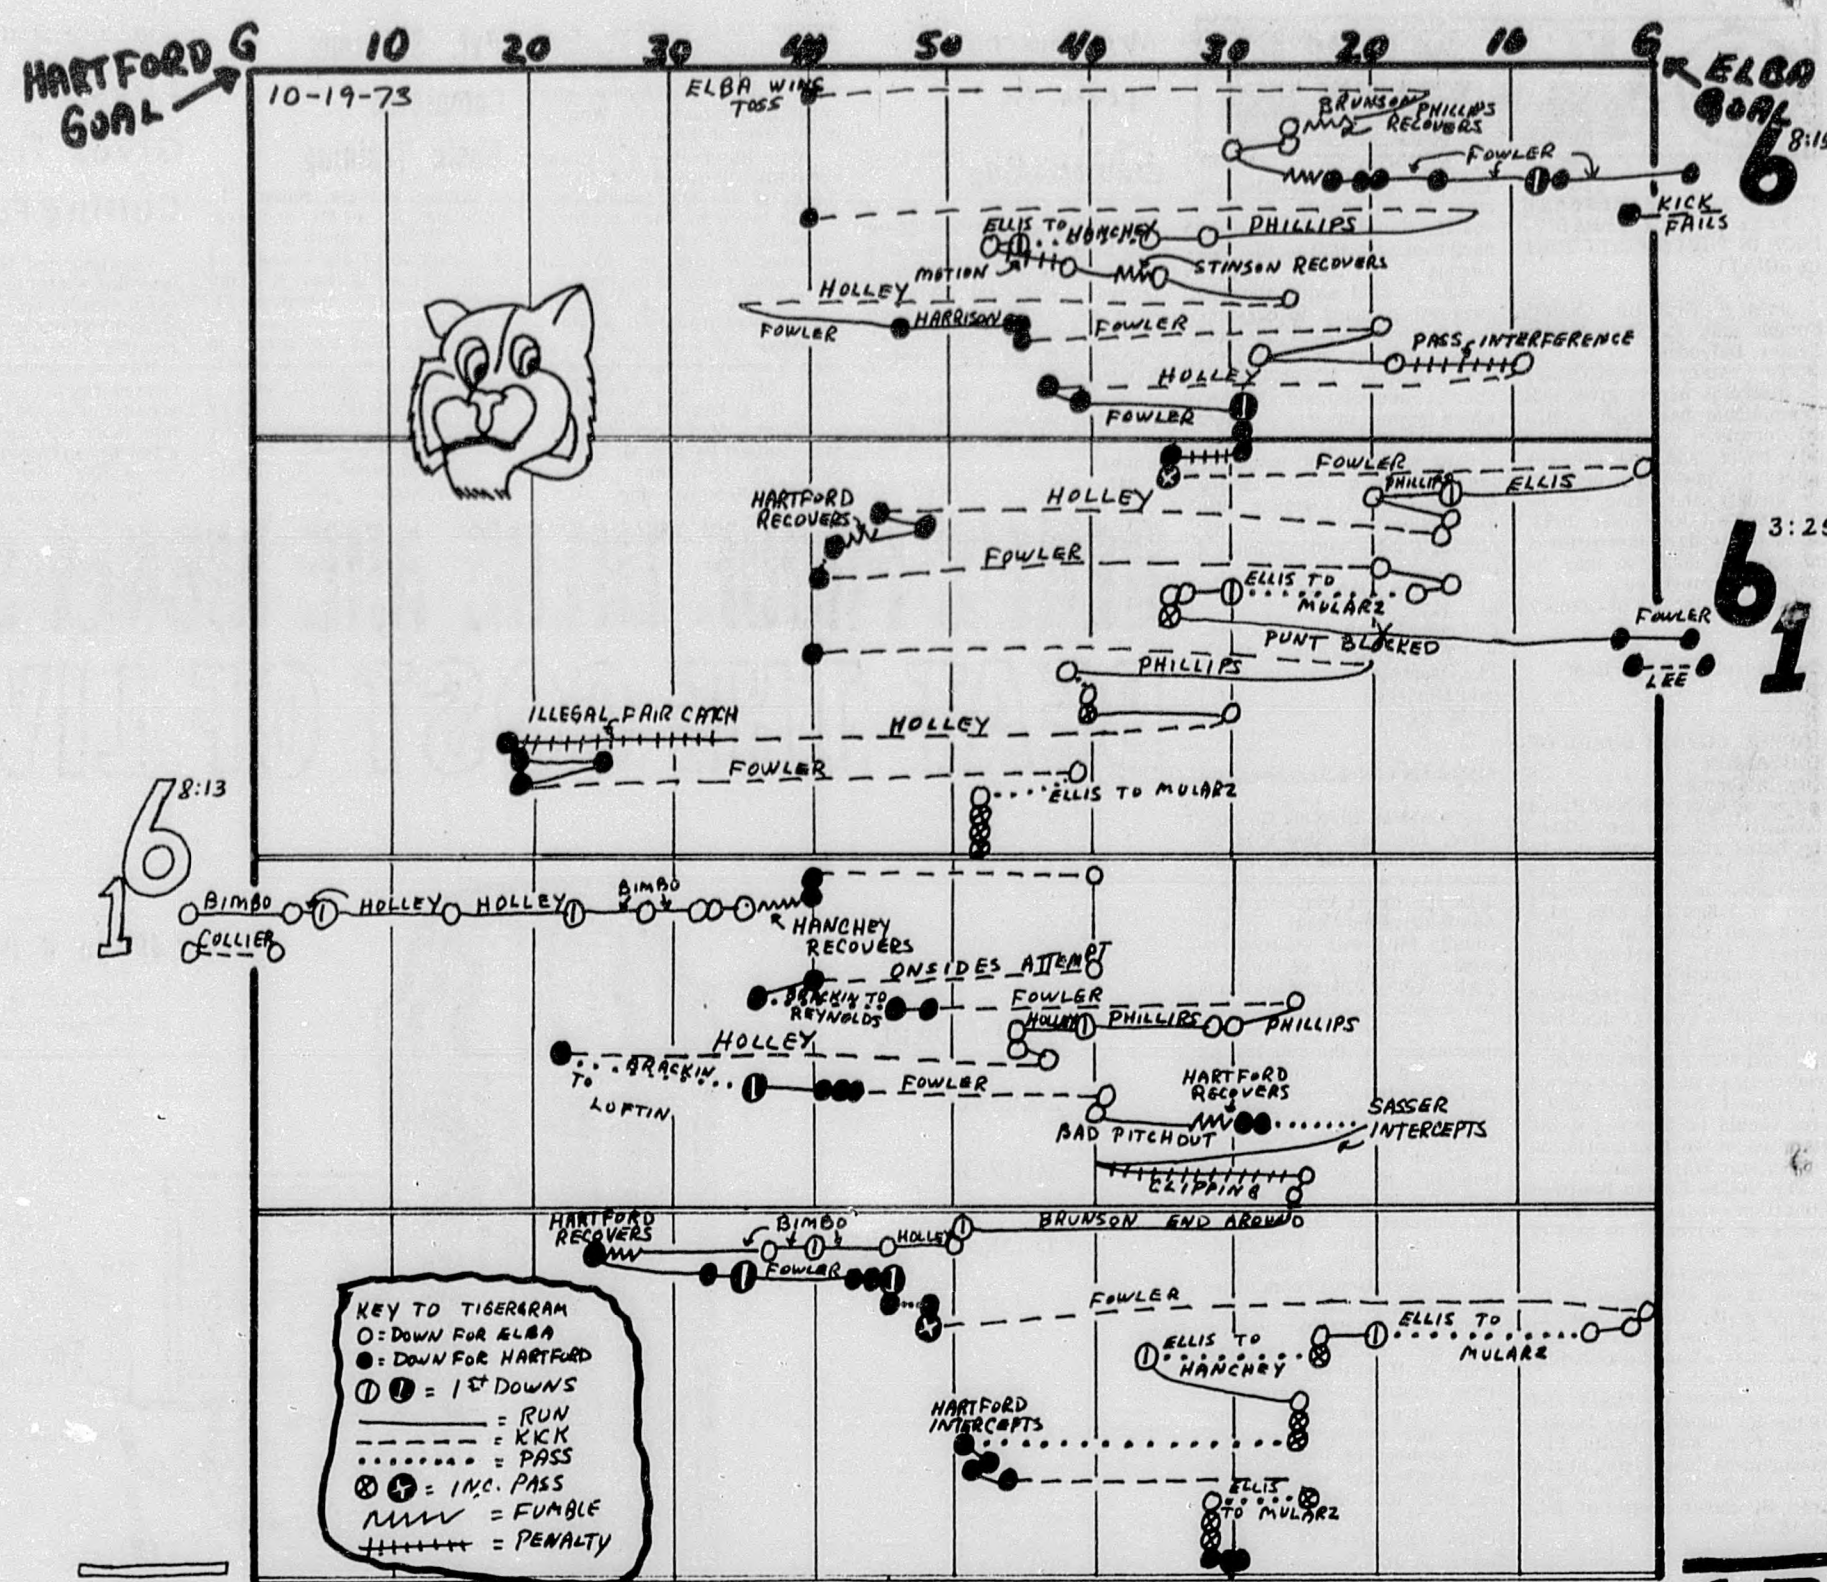

The first half ended with Elba in possession at mid-field.

The second-half kick-off was kicked out of bounds by the Tigers and placed at the Bulldog 40. On second down Hartford's Glen Harrison fumbled and Freddy Hankey recovered for the Tigers at the Bulldog 35.

The Tigers took the ball and with the help of a crucial first down on a third and three situation scored with 8:13 left in the third quarter to make the score 13-7, Hartford.

The only other significant action by either team was a 50-yard drive by Elba which was stopped at the Hartford 24 following a fumble by Bimbo, and an interception on the Hartford 20 yard line by Lamar Sasser.

The final score was Hartford, 13; Elba, 7.

Azalea Club Tells Of Chrysanthemum

"Chrysanthemums, Queen of the Autumn," was the highlight of the Wednesday morning demonstration and discussion by club member, Mrs. Oscar Vaughan Jr. Mrs. Vaughan described it as a group of strong-scented shrubby herbs that grow in many temperate regions of the world. The plant is known for its beauty and abundance of blossoms, which usually appear in autumn, ranging from white or yellow to pink or red.

Gardeners sometimes grow the Chrysanthemums from cuttings and the plant is perennial and grows from the same root. This plant has been cultivated over a period of 2000 years, that is why it is called "The Flower of the East."

Mrs. Vaughan demonstrated that the blossoms vary in size. Some grow no larger than a button, others may be eight inches in diameter. The Elba Florist and Gift Shop shared a large variety for use in her demonstration.

The business meeting was presided over by Club chairman Mrs. Prescott. Several chairmen gave reports on work being completed or future topics.

Mrs. Bancroft Cooper, chairman of Ways and Means Committee, announced that on Saturday, October 27, 1973, in the Standard Oil Station across from the Methodist Church, the Club is sponsoring a Rummage Sale, Bake Sale, Flea Market, and many other attractions, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The Club voted to give a hundred dollar donation in helping restore the Evergreen Cemetery Summer House.

Mrs. Prescott asked Mrs. Vaughan to compile her report and have it ready to present to the Alabama Garden Club Federation.

Mrs. Jim Whitman announced the "Yard of the Month sign is on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. R.S. Jones in Brookdale.

Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Ballard with several members served party dainties and coffee to Mrs. Ed Baker, Mrs. Fred Clark, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Mose Hamm, Mrs. Claud Dorsey, Mrs. R.H. Lee, Mrs. Nellie Martin, Mrs. V.D. McCrary, Mrs. F.H. Murphy, Mrs. Price Riney, Mrs. Sam Rowe, and Mrs. Flourine Whitman.

And this always provided opportunity for the adults to catch up on family news, and for the children to run and play together.

My grandfather was helping someone clean out his well one day and was lowering the man into the hole when a neighbor's dog rushed into the yard and promptly bit him on the leg. He was in no position to defend himself, of course, and the shock of the bite caused him to let go of the rope and send the man tumbling the remaining feet into the well at some speed. A few days later, my grandfather, a man of quick temper, walked calmly into that neighbor's yard and shot his dog - then walked out without a word. The neighbor never mentioned the incident, nor did my grandfather.

Then one chilly foggy morning, one of the neighbor's daughters had come to get the customary bucket of water. While she was there, we received news of a wreck involving her father, my uncle, and several other men of the community. They drove a long distance to work and back each day, and on this early morning they topped a hill and slammed into a large moving van parked mostly in their lane.

I can still see us now as we walked fast down the dirt road together, the water sloshing around her legs. I suppose I was trying to comfort her by

CONYA COOPER WINS PARACHUTING MEDALS

Conya Cooper Needs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bancroft Cooper of Elba, Alabama, won a silver medal in the water-jump event, a gold medal in the free-fall and a bronze at the Adriatic Cup Competition in Plovers, Yugoslavia.

Conya, who earned a berth on the United States Parachute Team at the 1973 National Parachuting Championship, was one of four women on the eight-member team. The four women team won the gold medals in two accuracy events and the third was awarded for first place overall country, defeating hard-pushing Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria. The accuracy events consist of hitting a 10 centimeter (4 inch) target after exiting an airplane from at least 3000 feet. Conya also won a silver medal in the water-jump event, a gold medal in the free-fall and a bronze at the Adriatic Cup Competition in Plovers, Yugoslavia.

While a graduate student at the University of Alabama, Conya began her jumping career, and since that time has amassed over 800 free-fall jumps. Now living at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, Conya is the wife of Captain Chris Needs, Commander of the U.S. Army Parachute Team "Golden Knights."

Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Ballard with several members served party dainties and coffee to Mrs. Ed Baker, Mrs. Fred Clark, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. Mose Hamm, Mrs. Claud Dorsey, Mrs. R.H. POLICE VISIT PRE-SCHOOL

The children of Elba Pre-School have been studying about community helpers. Some of the local community helpers have made this study very meaningful for the children. The children have had visits from the Fire Department, Rescue Squad, and the Police Department. They have learned how important these community helpers are to them.

Memories Around The Well

By: Faye Holliday

The tired old well in a Clipper article some weeks ago reminded me of the one we used to have at the old homestead. Only recently has it been filled in and covered over, gone forever from all but the memories of the ones whose lives were sustained and refreshed by it throughout the years.

Through most of my childhood the well stood there. I remember the huge mound of dirt piled beside the big hole when it was first dug. The man who did this dangerous work was a short Negro man, who was called quite appropriately "Shorty." Shorty would fearlessly lower himself into the well, and fill the container with dirt, and send it up to his helper. Only one or two other people that I knew of, in our area would do well work.

Also, Shorty was called upon when the well got debris or some foreign substance down in it, or to put in new cording when the old rotted or got broken somehow. I was always glad when he got through with his job - I had an uneasy feeling as long as he was down there.

But the water was delicious. Our well was kind to our neighbors had to get their water supply from it, also, coming in the early morning or late afternoon to get enough for household chores and baths for the day or night. And this always provided opportunity for the adults to catch up on family news, and for the children to run and play together.

FOUR-H TRIP

Home Agent Sara Hutchinson, Extension Home Agent Sandra Coffey and I have just completed a leadership training meeting on 4-H. This meeting was held at Rock Eagle, which is Georgia's 4-H Club center located near Eatonton, Georgia.

We have participated in this leadership forum, which is sponsored by J. C. Penney, for a number of years. Every time we go and take leaders with us, we are impressed with the quality of people working in 4-H. For example, about 40 leaders attended this meeting from 13 southern states. I have never been associated with any finer group. Those attending from Coffee County, in addition to us, were: Melanie Carney, Terri Olsen, Donnie Jones, Mrs. Myrna Rhoades, Mrs. Roland Whigham, Mrs. Lewis McInnis and Mrs. Fred Wood.

There are many factors involved in maintaining high soil fertility at the proper levels. This is why soil testing is so important.

SOIL FERTILITY

County agents in the tri-state area are cooperating in a series of television programs on soil fertility. My program, which is to be given in late October, will be on the availability of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in relation to the soil pH. I will be talking about the ability or inability of plant roots to take up or absorb plant nutrients at various soil pH levels. For example, as soil pH goes down, say from 6.0 to 5.0 and below, aluminum and manganese in the soil become more soluble. High concentrations of these elements in the soil are toxic to growing roots. Sometimes the tips of the roots are killed and the plant is starved of plant nutrients regardless of the amount of nutrients in the soil. Availability of phosphorus is affected by the pH. For example, as soil pH drops below 6.0, phosphorus is tied up with aluminum and becomes less available.

BRILLER HOUSE MANURE

Pat Brown of Route One, Enterprise, called me recently asking about the value of broiler manure. Bert Burnett, our poultry expert at Auburn, wrote me that broiler manure mixed with litter contains about 2 percent nitrogen, about 1.5 percent phosphorus and about .8 percent potash. This means that a ton would contain about 40 pounds of nitrogen, 32 pounds of phosphorus and 16 pounds of potash. You would have about $5 to 100 pounds of actual plant food.

When you consider that a 100 pound bag of 8-8-8 fertilizer contains 24 pounds of plant nutrients, this would make a ton of broiler house manure about as valuable in plant food as about 350 pounds of 8-8-8.

One of the beneficial affects of broiler production is the value of poultry manure production over a number of years.

LEAFSPOT CONTROL

Several Coffee County farmers have reported to me that they have gotten poor results from leafspot control measures this year. I have seen a number of fields where it appeared that materials that have been used successfully did not control leafspot this year. I do not know the number of acres involved, but I would like to hear from peanut producers who did not get the kind of control that they have been getting.

Dean Bond, our peanut specialist, is checking into the problem, and I would like to talk to several additional farmers who experienced this problem for the first time this year.

At last the emphasis on farms is on production. For many years, surplus farm produce has kept prices low and forced government programs to take land out of production. This has not been all bad. Most farmers idled land which did not produce well or land that was too steep for machinery. Most of this has been planted to grass or trees. As the pendulum swings back and crop-land production is promoted, don't lose your good judgment and put all this land back into crops. Trees and grass will still make money and won't cause nearly as many problems as putting unsuitable land back to crops.

Secretary of Agriculture Butz, calls on the nation's farmers to use conservation practices to avoid erosion hazards in the current food production campaign. He called on the SCS Service, working in cooperation with the country's 3,000 conservation districts, to give first priority to helping farmers and ranchers plan and install conservation measures.

"We don't want to risk starting another dust bowl," said the Secretary of Agriculture in discussing the effect of the release for agricultural production of some 60 million acres of formerly "set-aside" land. "It is vital, he said, that we protect the land from the soil erosion with proper conservation practices such as contour plowing, strip cropping, terracing, and minimum tillage."

ECM Project

Work is progressing on making repairs of a gully structure and some washed-out waterways at the Martin Moates' farm, in the County Line Community. Due to the unusually heavy rainfall this past spring, Mr. Moates had about 4 acres of his waterways washed away. During the heavy snowfall last February, a gully structure on the Moates' place was damaged.

The ASCS is giving assistance under the Emergency Conservation Measures to landowners who have received damages from the critical weather conditions this past year.

With this assistance, Mr. Moates was able to restore his gully structure and washed-out waterways to their original conditions.

Getting 4-H DOT Members Involved

Five Special Education classes enrolled in the DOT program this school year. The DOT 4-H type program sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Services, Auburn University, got off to a good start this school term. There were five special education classes enrolled in the Federal program this school year. The DOT foods and nutrition program is being taught in New Brockton High School, Elba Jr. High School, Carroll Street Elementary School and College Street Elementary School. The DOT program gives the boys and girls in their communities an opportunity to:

1. Participate in group activities, crafts, Day Camp and tours.

2. It helps to develop the child emotionally and socially.

3. It offers a chance for the retarded and underprivileged child to be at his best through group activities.

4. It makes the child aware of good health and sanitation in the home.

5. It offers the child a sense of direction and encouragement to do a task.

6. It gives the boys and girls a feeling of belonging and acceptance by their peers.

Teacher leaders who are working with these classes are:

Mrs. Sara Smith, Mrs. Jo Ann Smith, Carroll Street School; Mrs. Lois Hooks, New Brockton School; Miss Brenda Crawford, Mrs. Janice Clarke, Elba Jr. High School; and Mrs. Maxine Moates, College Street Elementary School. This program has the full support of the principals of each of the schools. Mrs. Sadie K. Petty, Extension Home Agent, is in charge of the youth phase of the Foods and Nutrition Program in Coffee County.

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT YOURSELF?

Do you feel sorry for yourself? Do you feel that you just don't have the chance in life that others have? Do you hate the way you look or where you live? Do you feel that somehow you have been cheated in life? You say, "That describes my problem perfectly, but what can I do?" You can do a lot simply by changing the way you think about yourself. You need to develop self-esteem. This doesn't mean being proud or conceited or putting yourself up on a pedestal and expecting everyone to bow down to you. It means having the proper respect for yourself and realizing that you are worth something.

There are some things over which we have no control. No person chooses his parents, his race, his social background, or his physical make-up. Since this is true, we have nothing to be ashamed of regarding these matters, and we have nothing to be conceited about either. Let's make the most of what we have, for each of us is a special individual with our own unique talents and personality. Remember as a wise man once said, "If we have no pride in ourselves and no self-respect, how can we expect others to respect us?"

Moments For Meditation

God Esteems Every Person
God esteems every person highly. God wants us to have respect for everyone, including ourselves. If we make fun of someone because of their physical characteristics or their social background, we are reproaching God because He made them. To look down on or despise another person is a great sin in God's sight. Since this is true, it is also wrong to despise yourself. God loves every person. He doesn't count upon the human race as one great mass of humanity. He sees and loves us as individuals. As St. Bernard once said, "To have a respect for ourselves guides our morals, and to have a deference for others governs our manners."

Library Club News

The Library Club held its first meeting of this school year recently. The meeting was held to discuss the purposes of the club, to welcome new members, and to elect officers. The following officers for the year were elected: President, Dretta Nelson; Vice-President, Teresa Wilson; Secretary, Dorothy Nunn; and Reporter, Nickie Sexton. Payment of dues was discussed and a deadline for the end of October was set. The meeting was adjourned until the next called meeting. The sponsor is Mrs. Sylvia Lowery.

NEWS FROM THE YOUNG REBELS

Lucky students have the opportunity to receive special instruction in mathematics. Special math classes provide individual instruction, smaller groups, and better working conditions for students and teachers. Working with an elementary group in modern mathematics is Mrs. Sylvia Lowery.

Senior Of The Week

This week's featured senior is Edsel Stone, son of Mrs. Lois Stone, of Route One, New Brockton. Edsel is a member of the Z Club, Library Club, and 4-H. He is an active sports participant and a member of the Z. C. Rebel football team. His favorite past time is hunting, and his pet is a two-faced peep. He likes the friendliness of the peep at Z. C. and the pride they exhibit. He believes more respect for teachers should be shown to improve the school. At the present time Edsel has not decided on his future plans, but we feel sure he will be successful in whatever he does. Good luck, Edsel!

GUESS WHO?

There once was a cutie named Jean, Who wouldn't listen to a word you would say, Now she's much older, And will do whatever Kenneth has told her, For with him she wants always to stay!

Last week's Guess Who was Bernice Adair.

We Could Do Without....

That 7:55 bell in the morning. Any more detective show on TV. Flies in our classroom. Girls that tell you they dreamed about you last night, but won't tell you what happened in the dream. Leftover pizza for breakfast. Football players with nothing on their minds but football. Dull classics that have to be read for book reports. Fish every Thursday. A team that beats us in football. Those tiny, perfect-figured girls always complaining about their size. Having to do without peach pie in the lunchroom. Drink machines that take our money, give us no drink, and laugh in our face. Exercises in P. E. Being stood up for a date. Mr. Hudson's drink bottle in his back pocket, but he couldn't find it. Our parents asking so many questions. A longer school year. Dilapidated school buses. Wondering when he is ever going to call. Achievement tests. Boys who like long hair, but won't keep it clean. Girls who brush their hair all day long. Doing without him. Hip-huggers on hippy girls. Boys who think their moustaches rival Mark Spitz's. That hopeless feeling when you know you won't see him again soon.

Meet The New Rebels

Introducing this week, Larry Gene Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Gene Pearson, of Route 2, Brundidge. Larry attended New Hope Jr. High last year. Larry says that what he likes most about Z. C. are the girls and how the classes are set up. His suggestions for improvements are more girls, better food, and air conditioning. Larry is a born comedian and fun to be around. Welcome to Z. C. Larry!

Love Affair

Now this love affair, Was not too long ago. It's of a girl named Jean, And a boy named Billy Joe.

Now Billy Joe was a hero, On the high school football team.

He had great future plans, Of traveling o'er the sea. He was as true as she could be, But she knew she'd have to let him go.

For his heart, she thought, was at sea.

Even though she knew this, She still didn't want to see. And she gave herself to him, And now with child is she.

It was the night after their graduation day, And Jean was trembling with fear.

But she knew what she had to do, And she never shed a tear.

She told him that she loved him, Too much to tie him down. He could follow his heart's desire, She and his child would be around.

But the news he took differently, For he had a glow in his eyes. He wanted to be a father, Much to Jean's surprise.

The wedding day was set, And the church was all aglow. But I could never tell of Jean's pain, When the groom, he didn't show.

Now the church, it was empty, Yes, Jean was there alone. And she lost her child that day, From the grief that she bore alone.

Six years came and six years went, And the pain it never ceased. Jean wandered as the time went by, And then the news, it was released.

Yes, six years later a car was found, Out wrecked by the sea. There had been a tragic accident, On the wedding day you see.

The only remnant that showed his love, In a very strange, but special way. It was a gift, a toy ship, For the child he'd have one day.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Selected by the teachers to be honored in Student Spotlight this month is Paul White, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. White of Route 2, Brundidge. Paul is a tenth grader and a new comer to Z. C. He attended New Hope Jr. High last year, where he was a very valuable basketball player. As a hobby, Paul enjoys collecting snake skins and rattles. Though usually quiet when you see him, Paul is a friendly and interesting person to know. An excellent student, he is always willing to cooperate whenever asked. We are pleased to honor you, and say, "Congratulations, Paul, keep up the good work."

What's Happening At EHS

Now, we return to the heart-warming story - "What's Happening At EHS." As we return, we find some typical students in the hall with Mr. Foley. Mr. Foley is saying -

"What class are you supposed to be in?" - (Chord)

"What class were they supposed to be in?" - (Chord)

"The students are struck dumb. - Amnesia perhaps?"

Can Mrs. Berry's students all make it to second mats? Can Mr. Key unlock his door in time for 1st period algebra? Can you stand another episode of - "What's Happening At E. H. S.?"

(Chord - Chord - Chord)

Tips For Teens

During the teen-age years, most kids change from supposedly normal children to some kind of "crazy freaks" (or so our parents describe us). And most parents find themselves faced with a bunch of teenagers who have the weirdest kind of "rules" they follow. The following are a few of the things our parents have to put up with:

1. Never trust anyone over 35 (except for Clint Eastwood). They think they know everything.

2. Learn how to make up good excuses - you're going to need them.

3. When you want to go some place that you know your parents won't let you go, tell them you're going somewhere else, and then go where you want to.

4. Starve to death at lunch, so you can save your lunch money to buy a new suit for homecoming.

5. Don't do your homework at night, wait and copy someone's during homework.

6. Never put any gas in your mother's car. Drive it up in the driveway on empty.

7. Make sure you never get home before the time you are supposed to.

8. Be sure all your jeans drag the dirt and the more faded and torn they are the better.

9. Always give a good argument when your mother starts complaining about your best suit consisting of a sloppy football jersey, faded jeans and tennis shoes.

10. Always go barefoot until the frost begins to bite your toes.
